

BEN HEIMSATH, AIA, PRINCIPAL

Principal and Manager of Heimsath Architects, Ben focuses on group facilitation, design and marketing. His contributions include the development of many collaborative tools for design, including the unique, all-day Design Retreat Workshop. Ben received his Master of Architecture from Harvard University, and his undergraduate degree from Columbia University, where he majored in architecture. Ben's first association with the firm was working summers during school.

LIBBY WEEDMAN, AIA

Libby is an Associate and serves as a Project Architect. She joined the firm in 1995. Libby received a Bachelor of Arts with honors and a Bachelor of Architecture from Rice University, and has experience in the production of commercial, residential, educational and religious buildings.

NICK BRUHN, Architectural Intern

Nick joined the firm in 2006. He graduated from North Dakota State University in 2006 with a Bachelor of Architecture and a Bachelor Environmental Design. His professional interests include Behavioral Architecture. Nick enjoys films and live music.

NICOLE SAWYER, Architectural Intern

Originally from Boston, Nicole received her Masters in Architecture from Tulane University before moving to Austin. Her studies included a summer in Helsinki University Department of Architecture in Finland. Nicole brings a background in high-end residential design and building construction; she is also interested in Texas vernacular style. When not at work, Nicole enjoys sports such as soccer and volleyball, as well as being outdoors.

JENNIFER LOVE, Architectural Intern

Jennifer received her undergraduate degree from Teaxs A&M in Environmental Design. A member of the firm since 2004, she has returned in 2010 after serving as an Environmental Conservation Volunteer in Panama for the US Peace Corps. Her interests include Natural Building and Sustainable Agriculture.

CLOVIS HEIMSATH, FAIA

Senior designer and founder of Heimsath Architects. He earned a bachelors degree from Yale University. Clovis studied architecture at the University of Texas and completed his degree with a Master of Architecture from Yale. Clovis spent a year on a Fulbright Scholarship studying at the University of Rome. Clovis was admitted into the College of Fellows for his contributions to research in practice.

ERIC MACINERNEY, AIA

Principal; Heimsath Architects, also serves as a Project and Technology Manager. Eric earned his Master of Architecture from Harvard University and has a Bachelor of Art in Engineering degree from Dartmouth College. Eric came to the firm in 1995 and quickly added his interest in construction issues to the team. Eric's expertise in computers and technology has been integral to maintaining the firm's philosophy of embracing technology for design as well as production. Eric's project management skills have made him especially adept at negotiating difficult approval processes.

SANDY S. STONE, AIA

Sandy joined the firm with extensive experience in construction and historic preservation. Sandy holds two degrees from the University of Texas: a Master of Architecture with specialization in Historic Preservation, and a Bachelor of Science in Interior Design. Her project architect experience includes major public and institutional buildings, including several courthouses and numerous churches.

MICKEY PEAVLER, Architect

Mickey received his Bachelors Degree from Ohio University and a Masters in Anthropology from Ohio State University. He became interested in design by building sailboats, and earned a Masters in Architecture from Ohio State University in 2006. He joined the firm the same year. Mickey is especially interested in Digital Fabrication, Critical Theory, and Furniture design.

LITONG,
Historic Preservationist & Designer

Li joined Heimsath Architects with a Masters in Historic Preservation from University of Texas and a Bachelor in Architecture from China. Her interests include both new construction and historic preservation. She is interested in adaptive reuse and renovation projects.

SHEILA WILLS, Office Administrator

Sheila worked previously as an administrator for a playground equipment company. Her experience includes administrative roles for a local school district and other small companies. Sheila attended Austin Community College in Business Administration. She currently volunteers as the membership chair for the Austin chapter of the Society of Design Administrators.

MARYANN HEIMSATH

Maryann has contributed as Interior Designer, and Liturgical Consultant for the firm since 1974. She earned a Master's degree from Yale University and a Bachelor's degree from Bryn Mawr College in Pennsylvania. Maryann also creates stained glass. Her designs have been recognized in art and liturgical publications and have been installed in worship spaces

