Architectural Designer

Heimsath Architects is a well-established firm located in Austin with projects throughout Texas and at times out of state. Our areas of expertise include educational, preservation, and governmental projects, with a specialty in houses of worship and other religious facilities. We are a small office offering a casual, congenial work environment.

Job Description

We have an opening for a full time architectural designer. The position will involve working both collaboratively and independently on a wide range of projects. We are particularly interested in candidates who want to be active in all aspects of firm operations, and contribute to the growth and development of the firm.

Qualifications include

- A professional degree in Architecture
- 3-5 years of professional experience, although we will consider more junior candidates who are fast learners and can convince us that they will hit the ground running.
- BIM experience (ArchiCad a plus)
- Well-spoken and comfortable presenting to clients
- Strong organizational and technical skills
- Self-starter, capable of adapting and open to new ideas.

We offer a competitive salary commensurate with experience, and excellent benefits including full health care coverage.

How to apply

Qualified applicants should respond with a resume and portfolio, along with a note explaining why this particular position would be a good fit for you.
